

Your very own porter

Tired of waiting at the airport luggage carousel, carrying heavy luggage, and complying with ever-reducing aircraft weight allowances? Comfort, convenience and security are the priorities of the new global door-to-door luggage delivery service, Personal Porter, which bypasses traditional check-in by collecting luggage from homes, hotels or offices and delivering it to any destination in the world.

Luggage is tracked throughout its journey with regular SMS updates and delivered to its destination before the traveller has arrived, and all country customs requirements and procedures are handled by Personal Porter.

To find out more, visit personalporter.com.au.

Virgin Atlantic's Upper Class (business class) is a great way to wing your way to Europe. At the touch of a button, Upper Class seats flip over to become one of the biggest airline beds in the business - perfect for forty winks. Each seat is fitted with laptop power-points and a large table with plenty of room for an informal meeting, or watch films from a private 10.4 inch screen. The wonderfully soft leather seat reclines even for take off, and there's an ottoman that also acts as a seat for on-board beauty therapy treatments. Enjoy a drink at the Upper Class bar - there's a specialist cocktail service on selected flights - and dine from the "Freedom Menu" - meaning you can eat what you want, when you want on freshly-prepared British-inspired cuisine. Upper Class return Sydney - London from $7998, visit virginatlantic.com.

Sandy Guy

Etihad's Diamond Zone (above) offers award-winning comfort for luxury travellers. The food on British Airways (left) and Emirates (below) would not be out of place in the world's top restaurants.

KOZMINSKY

421 Bourke Street Melbourne
Tel 03 9670 1277
www.kozminsky.com.au